

Learn a little more of about these Charlotte Artist.

Plein Artists at 4301 Denhigh Drive

Carol Pighin Originally from California, Carol and her family moved to Charlotte in 1995. She graduated from San Francisco State University but started her art career here at CPCC. She took classes from Andy Braitman and many workshops with artists such as Connie Winters, Larry Moore, Harold Frontz, and Jeremy Sams. Carol is a member of the Guild of Charlotte Artists, Matthews Art Guild, Gaston County Art Guild, North Carolina Plein Air Painters, and Queen City Plein Air Painters. She loves to paint from scenes outside in North Carolina and landscapes from travels far and wide. Carol has participated in Art in the Garden every year.

Marie Freudenberger

Immersed in the enchantment of painting, I specialize in oil and acrylic, capturing landscapes and gardens en plein air. Inspired by the ever-changing interplay of light, I infuse excitement into my work with color, form, and texture. While meticulously planned, my compositions maintain a spontaneous freshness, aiming to unveil the overlooked aspects of our contemporary world. Trained at Atelier John Murray and the Art Students League, notably under Cornelia Foss, I've showcased in group exhibitions and my pieces adorn private collections in New York and Germany.

Learn a little more of about these
Charlotte Artist.

Ceramicists at 4263 Denbigh Drive

Ceramicists at 618 Museum Dr.

Clay Sisters Karla and Karen

We are the Clay Sisters, where clay is more than a medium – it's in our DNA. As creative twins, we specialize in crafting one-of-a-kind pottery pieces that echo the simplicity and sweetness of childhood conversations. Our artistic vocabulary revolves around the word "pretty," capturing the whimsical and charming details in every creation. Inspired by nature, our art merges the beauty of the outdoors with our shared imagination. Join us in celebrating life's simplicity, sweetness, and beauty through our unique and inspired pottery.

Brian Youngerman

Brian began his pottery journey in 2021. As an outdoor enthusiast bonsai began as a hobby and his interest soon turned to making his own pots. He enjoys the process of combining both crafts to create lasting art forms for home gardens.

Learn a little more of about these
Charlotte Artist.

Watercolor Artist at 2908 Sunset Dr.

Gallery at 11423 Colonial Country Lane

Vanessa Thorman

Fueled by a profound love for animals, my artwork aims to create an immersive experience where the subject is not merely observed but genuinely seen, fostering a connection that unites humans and animals in a shared moment of recognition and understanding. I chose to focus my artwork on this one experience because when I was young, I preferred the company of animals to navigating human social scenes. In their companionship, I found solace, unconditional love, and acceptance.

My artwork serves as a heartfelt tribute to their presence in my life, celebrating their grace, beauty, and distinctive personalities.

Stewart's Village Gallery

Bill Stewart, a renowned pottery artist, founded Stewart's Village Gallery then joined in 1980 with his wife, Holly, who also works in ceramics. Their studio now hosts many different artists, and it's home to the amazing american crafts located in historic Waxhaw, NC. You can find glass, jewelry, and hand selections of garden, metal, woodwork, and fiber art.

